Early Medical Education Program

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

The Early Medical Education Program (EME) is an initiative to increase the academic competitiveness of undergraduate pre-medical students, early in their college career. The program is designed to provide medical science lectures and academic support through a 4-week, summer enrichment program for the first two summers and a 6-week, pre-matriculation program for the third summer. Students are selected from one of the participating linkage schools. Once accepted into EME, if students meet the program requirements they are granted a guaranteed acceptance into SUNY Downstate's College of Medicine.

Summer Session I includes a study of Human Anatomy & Physiology, Summer Session II includes studies in Biochemistry, Cell Biology Genetics, and Immunology. Summer Session III includes the pre-matriculation program to SUNY-Downstate's College of Medicine. All of the lectures include a case based learning approach. In addition, students will learn time & stress management skills and will have an opportunity for hands-on exposure to medical disciplines through shadowing experiences with clinicians.

EXPENSES

There is no cost to participate in the program other than necessary books and supplies. Room and Board will not be provided for Summer Sessions I and II, but will be provided and is required for Summer Session III (Operation Success). Stipends will not be issued for this program.

REQUIREMENTS

The program is open to students who are U.S. citizens or permanent residents. Students should have completed 60 credits by the beginning of Summer Session I, and should have completed General Chemistry and General Biology by the end of the Spring semester. The EME admissions committee will review students' academic qualifications as well as motivations for a career in medicine, extracurricular activities, volunteer work, and research experience. We recommend a science grade point average (GPA) of 3.2 and a non-science grade point average (GPA) of 3.5 for all students applying to the program.

Once accepted into the program, students must maintain a minimum science GPA of 3.0, receive a minimum non-science GPA of 3.2 and a Medical College Admissions Test (MCAT) score, at or above the score stated in your signed contract upon entrance into the program.
